Description

In past years – design, artwork and illustration pretty much summed up everything we did. Of course new technology has expanded all of this, so that now we have a whole host of new tricks and tools for producing complex digital interactive artwork, illustrations and animations. Combined with our in-depth knowledge of modern printing and production methods means your project, however big or small is in safe, capable hands. Whatever your project, we can produce artwork that fits your budget, meets the brief and works to all of your corporate guidelines. We guarantee our art and design work to the highest standards – no spelling mistakes and no pixelated images. If your project requires a particularly challenging illustration or photoshop retouch, we can pass the project over to our partners, Digital Progression or Richard Chasemore, who are bona fide experts in all things Photoshop and illustration.
